

No Return Policy

Thank you for your purchase and for supporting handcrafted work.

All of our products including accessories, clutches, and handmade items are carefully created with attention to detail and delicate materials. Due to the artisanal nature of our pieces, we do not accept returns or exchanges once a purchase is made.

Each item is unique and may have slight variations that make it special. These are not considered defects, but rather part of the handmade process we deeply value.

We recommend carefully reviewing the product descriptions and photos before placing your order. If you have any questions, we'll be happy to assist you prior to your purchase.

We truly appreciate your understanding and your support for products made with love by hand.
